LATIN GRAMMAR

FOR HIGH SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

By

Herbert Charles Elmer Professor of Latin Cornell University

ELMER'S LATIN GRAMMAR straightens and shortens the path of students and teachers of Latin by eliminating altogether many of the difficulties of Latin grammar as usually taught, by simplifying and clarifying many other difficulties, and by correcting the numerous and serious violations of fundamental principles of pedagogy, found in manuals now in general use. The saving in time and energy thus achieved for student and teacher amounts in some cases to 75% of his time and energy, without the sacrifice of a single essential.

Can Be Used with All Textbooks

Elmer's Grammar was published late in 1928. To enable those using textbooks published before that time to find quickly the proper section references in the Elmer Grammar, a table of parallel references has been prepared for free distribution.

Teachers Are Extravagant in Their Praise

"I know of no manual of the same scope that contains that combination of accuracy and clarity which I find in yours....High School teachers will especially value this new help because your presentation is so terse, interesting and practical. The rules work.... It does more to lessen the difficulties of Latin grammar than any work of the sort I have ever seen. I am recommending it to students of all ages."

WALTON B. MCDANIEL,
Professor of Latin,
University of Pennsylvania.

"I have been comparing your grammar with others and finding it in every respect a marked improvement. By removing many obscurities found in the older grammars you lift a great burden from the teaching of Latin in secondary schools. For the first time we can equip pupils with a grammar which is not only accurate and adequate but is also delightfully clear and attractive. But your achievement is much greater than this. Your keen analysis of syntax is a triumph of understanding. I shall be glad to recommend your grammar whenever I can".

Instructor in Latin,

THE CLIMAX SERIES

Recording another advance in the teaching of Latin, Latin—Fourth Year lists the words required on the page in which they occur in the text. An understanding of the words and their meaning insures satisfactory reading of the Latin text which will make possible the primary objective of understanding and appreciating the poetry.

Forti's paintings, Picart's engravings, Roman monuments, and contemporary pictures of places steeped in association are reproduced to form an unusually rich and varied body of illustrations. A two-page map of the voyage of Aeneas is given and several smaller maps show in detail places mentioned in the text.

PHARR'S

VERGIL'S AENEID

A BIMILLENNIUM EVENT

THE feature of this edition of the Aeneid distinguishing it from all others is the Visible Vocabulary, which makes the first striking advance over the age-old method of acquiring a vocabulary by manual labor. Pharr's Aeneid is a superior edition in respect to notes and other equipment, but this vocabulary system alone is enough to give it a distinguished position among text-books in Latin.

KNAPP'S
VERGIL

REVISED

The one best means of arousing interest in such classes is, of course, to see that the students are provided with the most stimulating edition of the Aeneid available. KNAPP'S VERGIL—known for over twenty-seven years among Latin teachers as the standard edition of the Aeneid—was revised and improved in 1928. The revised edition provides

(1) A complete and thoroughgoing Introduction, which gives a discussion of the career of Augustus, his aims as a ruler of the State, his relation to the State, the life of Vergil, his poetry—especially the Aeneid, its purpose as a glorification of Rome, the success of the poem, and its style. The rôle of Aeneas as a forerunner of Augustus and his career as a foreshadowing of that of the Roman people are adequately discussed.

(2) Notes that are complete and therefore readily understandable—placed for ready reference on the same page as the text.

(3) Illustrations that add interest to the reading of the text, by helping to explain the story that Vergil is telling. There are nearly twice as many illustrations as in the old edition.

KNAPP'S VERGIL is presented in two editions. One is the Six-Book Edition, with selections from the Metamorphoses of Ovid. The other edition gives Aeneid I to VI complete, and selections from VII to XII. With each edition text-editions for use in the class-room are supplied free.

A New, Complete Two-Year Latin Course

By Pearson, Lawrence, and Raynor

LATIN I	(for the first year)	554 pages	Price, $1.40
LATIN II	(for the second year)	653 pages	Price, $1.72

In these books the teaching of Latin in the first two years in the High School has been simplified, vitalized, and thoroughly reorganized in accordance with the recommendations of the Classical Investigation. The more difficult forms and principles have been postponed to the third semester at the beginning of the second year. Throughout, an unusual effort has been made to give a historical-cultural background, to show the relation between Latin and English, and to provide the pupil with a better preparation for, and a greater understanding of, the reading of Caesar. Both books are richly illustrated.

Index to THE CLASSICAL WEEKLY, Volume XXIII

October 7, 1929—May 19, 1930

This Index, prepared by Charles Knapp, with valuable assistance from his Secretary, Miss Bertha Medlock, has been worked out exactly along the lines followed in the General Index to Volumes I–XVI, and in the separate Indexes to Volumes XVII–XXII.

The name of an author and the title of an article are given in full only once, at the place where the author's surname appears in the alphabetical sequence. The title of a book reviewed will be found in full only where the name of the author appears in the list given under the caption "Reviews". To the titles of articles or subjects (e. g. Accusative, Expressions of Time, etc., Adjectives, etc., Actus Ciceronianus, etc.) the names of the authors are not attached; one can readily find the names by looking up the page or the pages named.

In determining the place of certain items in the general alphabetical sequence, or the place of items within a group or paragraph, the initial words "An" and "The" are disregarded.

"Aeneid: Vergil" = 'For the Aeneid see under Vergil'; "Argonautica: Reviews, Gillies" = 'See Reviews, under the name Gillies'; "see above", "see below" = 'see above', 'see below' under the same caption (i.e. in the same paragraph or group of entries).

Under the caption "Reviews" will be found some entries enclosed in square brackets. Such entries deal with books not formally reviewed, but mentioned, in some detail, in the course of an article or review. Material of this sort will be found listed in appropriate places elsewhere, enclosed, in each instance, in square brackets.
